C of C selects progress leaders

Plans are continuing to grow for the second annual Congress for Community Progress slated for Thursday, Feb. 22, at West Valley College. This ambitious program with the theme "Our Community-The People in Action" sponsored hy The Campbell Chamber of Commerce, will attempt to answer the question, "What kind of a city do we want." Eight workshop panels covering separate phases of community life will be featured.

A steering committee headed by Rev. Ben Gould of the First Methodist Church, has held meetings weekly and eight panel moderators have been chosen. Each will direct the discussions into final recommendations which, hopefully, will be turned into action. Rev. Gould has pointed out that this is an opportunity for the citizens of Campbell to become "involved", rather than just observe.

The Congress will open with registration at 8:30 a.m. and panel sessions will begin at 10 a.m. PG&E will present a film entitled "A Stranger Returns to Campbell." Before the pane sessions begin, a brief review of the recommendations made at last year's congress will be presented as well as the accomplishments made during 1967.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. The panels will then return to the college to formulate their recommendations.

Registration for the Congress is $4.50 and will include lunch served at the Campbell High School cafeteria. More than 200 invitations have been sent to clubs and groups in the community interested in the project. A larger turnout is expected this year, due to the success of the first congress last year. Most people will be free to attend, as Feb. 22 is Washington's Birthday, a legal holiday.

$746,180 grant for housing

A $746,180 Housing and Urban Development grant has pumped new life into the County Housing Authority and will enable it to lease 700 dwelling units in the county for low income families and appoint a full-time executive director.

The five member Board of Commissioners, including E. H. Renzel Jr., of San Jose, Earl Garretson of Gilroy, Don Kelstrup, of Santa Clara, A.C.Stevens Jr. of Cupertino and Richard Taylor of Milpitas asked for the grant last August, then immediately sought applicants for the director's post.

The appointment will be made tomorrow, (Jan. 18) during a 2 p.m. executive session of the commission. They have at least 40 applicants for the position which will pay between $12 and $14,000 yearly. The County Housing Authority will open three offices to administer services due to the widespread population of the county. There will be one in North County, South County and Central County.

Palo Alto is the latest city to join the County Housing Authority, along with seven other cities including Gilroy, Morgan Hill, Campbell, Cupertino, Los Gatos, Sunnyvale and Mountain View. At press time Milpitas City Council was taking the matter under consideration.

GREAT INTEREST

A great interest was shown among Campbell residents in the County Housing Authority. A representative group of of the E.O.C. area 6, urged the Council to join the Authority, but the Councilmen would not be rushed. It was not until they had made a trip to San Francisco to meet with John W. Keast of HUD, that they drafted a resolution which contains some semblance of "local control."

San Jose calls blacked out

That "blackout" of telephone calls to San Jose Tuesday afternoon was due to a line down on West San Carlos street caused by construction, according to a report from the Campbell Police Department.

For most of the afternoon dialers got a "busy signal" when they made San Jose calls, although lines to Santa Clara were open. Later a "recording" stated that a cable had been cut.

Ideas for city hall sought

Campbell City Council members, Robert Stephens, city manager; Bill Wren city engineer and John Morgan, chief of police, will accompany Bill Hedley, architect, on a tour of new city complexes Jan. 29,30.

Hedley has been contracted to design the new city building which will be built with the funds recently voted upon by the residents of Campbell. According to Stephens the appraisal of the property involved is expected to get under way within the next week.

The tour will include four cities in Southern California who have recently moved into new facilities. The group will look at their new civic centers, observe how they have solved their problems and inquire as to how they would adjust if it was to be done over again. All of the towns to be visited are within the same population range as Campbell and in a metropolitan area. Questions which the tour party hope to have answered include whether it would be best to build for expansion or to overbuild.

The council group plans to fly down Jan. 29 and return Jan. 30.

INTRODUCING..SCOTTY CAMPBELL! He is the new symbol of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, representing community action. You can meet him for the first time on the cover of the C of C Brochure at the Installation dinner at Villa Felice on Feb.2.

Council to hear appeal

Two issues of major importance face members of the Campbell City Council at the Jan. 22 meeting.

On the agenda is an appeal by Robert Meyer who is presenting his Virginia Avenue town house complex for reconsideration by the Council after it was voted down by a 4-3 split of the Planning Commission Dec. 18. Protests were made by residents of the area who objected to the 2-bedroom Spanish motif cluster on the basis that they had bought into R-1 zoning and didn't want another "Jean Drive" located near them.

Meyer is appealing the ruling as he feels his plan for the town house is worthy of consideration and would add rather than detract from the present residential area.

MULTI-FAMILY

Other items on the agenda include a hearing by Lowell Grattan who seeks to build multi-family units on seven acres facing on Latimer Ave. bounded by the San Tomas Expressway and the Campbell Water Company property.

Also coming before the council for consideration will be the phrase in the election legislature which states that the "city may require each candidate to prepare a statement of qualification". Discussion will hinge on the word "may' and should it be changed to "shall". This statement, to be filed at the time of filing for office, can be no more than 150 words and the printing costs will be borne by the candidate. The statements will be mailed out to each voter with the sample ballot prior to the April election. Three present city councilmen, Edward Rogers, Bill Smeed and Charlie Rose are up for reelection at this time.

Councilmen will also be considering revision of the street tree ordinance in order to better define city and home ownership responsibility.

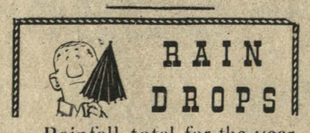
Patrolman Dore in hospital

Presently in the intensive care ward at the Campbell Community Hospital is Donald Dore, 28 year old Campbell police officer who collapsed while on duty last week.

An operation later in the week resulted in removal of a large part of his stomach, and an appeal for blood for his account has been issued.

A meeting of the Campbell Municipal Employees Tuesday was held for the purpose of forming a blood bank to cover all city employees and their families.

Dore has been a motorcycle patrolman for the city for approximately three years. He is married and the father of a small daughter.



Rainfall total for the year after last week's showers amounted to 4.32 inches with 6.46 inches recorded as normal According to Campbell Water Company records, last years total was 8.08 inches at this time.

They'll race you to the corner

By Sally Howe

"West Valley Joggers" is their name.

Jogging for fun is their game.

Who? What? Well, ask where, and we'll tell you and then you'll have no excuse not to get out there and go, go, go, round, round, round and run, run,run.

Of course, they claim they don't really run, but we caught sight of a little chart....

Feel ready for an explanation?

Len Edholm, when he took over as Chamber of Commerce Manager in August, confided (no, he really announced, rather firmly) that in Bakersfield he'd been a participant in an active group of men and women who had taken up the President's challenge to be physically fit and were spending a few minutes nearly every day "jogging".

Edholm pointed out than lots of famous people, movie stars, politicians, etc. have become convinced of the therapeutic value of this mild form of exercise and that "jogging" clubs have sprung up all over the nation.

"Jogging" is a trotting form of running first brought to the U. S. from New Zealand by an Oregon track coach 5 or 6 years ago.

The C of C manager's philosophy is that nobody really wants to run alone, plus the fact that by organizing they can find a "safe" place to run (in this case, the track of Westmont High School) and stay off the streets. (Isn't that the same treatment they used to prescribe for would-be hoods, Len?).

Every person Edholm has met since taking over the new job is greeted with "Do you run?" Usually the recipient of the question was too bewildered to reply, but one after another Edholm found others interested in "going for a jog".

The group has grown to include a physician, dentists, a minister, housewives, teachers, professors, salesmen, a fireman, a surveyor and a banker.

Each Saturday morning at 8 a.m. (rain or shine) the group meets at the High School. They

CHIEF MORGAN

George Vierhus is recuperating from surgery. In his absence Chief of Police John D. Morgan has written this week's "On The Limb."

SINCE IT IS CONSIDERED not exactly proper for a Chief of Police to write letters to the editor, I naturally jumped at the opportunity to expound on "anything you'd like to", to quote our very good editor, George Vierhus.

Knowing that he is temporarily incapacitated and that by the time (and we hope that the time will be very short) he recovers, his readers will also recover from what may be the traumatic experience of this article. Anyway, hurry back George, and here goes—

-o-

THERE OFTEN APPEARS a hue and cry from public officials, and quite often from law enforcement officials, that the public - that's all of you- is apathetic to the problems facing government. I often find myself thinking about picking up this "crutch", particularly when things aren't going just right or no one takes the time to tell us whether we're doing a good job or not. But as I honestly evaluated the situation, I came to the conclusion that this indeed was a crutch and nothing more.

To use a well worn but a true statement, government, hence Law Enforcement, is by the people. How then do I rationalize the apparent apathy, the lack of vociferous support? I would quickly comment that in Campbell, we are indeed fortunate to have the citizens who take the time to voice their support which makes the job even more rewarding.

In an indirect manner, that is, through their elected representatives, the people appoint me as all public officials, to our positions. They have, in effect, said that they have delegated to me the responsibility for the protection of life and property and for the health, welfare and safety of the citizens in this community. They, then, and rightfully so, expect me to do my job.

IF THEY HAVE CONFIDence in their Law Enforcement representatives, if they are doing the job that their communities expect, if they are representing the wishes of the people, would it then not follow that the silence of the citizens is an indictment that that particular department is functioning in a proper manner?

This, however, presents a problem in judgment by the public officials. Realizing that the desires of the communities differ, that communities have personalities, indeed often take on human-like characteristics, the problem is then, "what do the citizens of this community want it to be"?

Do we want those things that tend to bring to our community commercialized gambling, the prostitute, the narcotics peddler? Do we want entertainment that does nothing to add to the culture of the community, in fact, tends to down grade the city where most of us hope to live and raise our children and grandchildren?

Well realizing that my job is not censorship, I nevertheless feel that I have been charged with representing the community. Therefore, I feel then, before Law Enforcement raises this hue and cry - uses this crutch - they evaluate the premise that public silence does not necessarily constitute public apathy. Knowing people such as editor George, I'm sure if Law Enforcement, in fact, any public agency in this community, becomes remiss in its duties, we certainly will hear about it.

I'm sure no one would believe that I wrote this particular article if something controversial was not injected, so as I have sort of a philosophi-

Campbell's share of state motor fees is $11,808

A total of $15,623,471 has been apportioned among California's cities and counties from State motor vehicle license fees, State Controller Houston I. Flournoy reported today.

This is the first of three apportionments to be made during the 1967-68 fiscal year. It is revenue from fees collected from June 1 to November 30, 1967. Apportionments in April and June will be larger.

Flournoy said all but a minor portion of motor vehicle license fees goes to local governments because the fees take the place of a local property tax on motor vehicles. Campbell's share will be $11,808.46.

State law requires deductions from the total collections to cover interest charges on highway bonds and for support of the Department of Motor Vehicle license fee division.

Flournoy said there is no State restriction on the expenditure of the money other than that the cities and counties use it for general public purposes.

The tax is an excise tax for revenue purposes imposed for using the highways for vehicle operation. It is levied at the rate of $2 per hundred dollars of market value of each vehicle.

Girl Scouts

NEIGHBORHOOD 15

There's a meetin' here tonight! All Girl Scout leaders are urged to attend the Neighborhood Meeting tonight, (Jan 17) 7:30 p.m., Capri School. There's lots of business buzzing around...registration packets, Brownie Banquet plans, etc.

Also – the Neighborhood Service Team is proud indeed to welcome Dorothy Wells to our ranks. Dorothy will serve as a Junior Consultant.

She has lived in the Campbell area for the past few years and served as program consultant for Cadette Troop 55 during 1965-66. Dorothy certainly is not new to the scouting program. She served as a Brownie, Junior and Cadette leader in the San Francisco Bay Council before coming to Campbell. We welcome her with open arms, and hope she will enjoy working in the Santa Clara Council.

There are presently 17,850 Girl Scouts in our Santa Clara Council – and many girls on "waiting lists". Figure two and three adult leaders per troop and there are a lot of busy women! There is always need for volunteer help. Perhaps there is a place you're needed.

Junior and Cadette troops are involved with many different types of badge work right now – perhaps this is your field. Sewing, cooking, toy making, dancing and many other areas to try your hand. If you have some free time and you're interested, please don't hesitate to call the Girl Scout office (248-7226). Perhaps you need us as much as we need you!

Police crack down on obscene phone calls

Hand-crank phones are a thing of the past. And it is hoped that "cranks" on the mouthpiece will soon be just as obsolete.

Making obscene and other annoyance phone calls is rapidly becoming a very expensive past time indeed for anonymous crank callers–in terms of arrests, prison sentences, fines and humiliation, according to G. L. Sicard, Pacific Telephone manager in Campbell.

Dramatic technolog ical breakthroughs are steadily reversing what were formerly long odds against detection.

"Now," he declared, "the annoyance caller is beginning to find the odds stacked against his remaining unidentified. And an upsurge in the already startling increase in arrests and convictions is also being recorded in the wake of the current PT&T information program to alert people to the problem and its treatment."

The public, PT&T, and the police make a team that has rolled up an impressive box score of arrests and convictions of annoyance callers.

Figures speak for themselves Of 21 Central California cases reported in a recent month, 19 of them have been closed with either an apprehension or a halt in the calls, according to Sicard.

Phone company managers are joining PT&T special agents in a coordinated effort with local law enforcement agencies. And the current campaign has been bolstered by PT&T with the creation of annoyance-calling bureaus, special training for thousands of telephone employees, and the use of a variety of space-age electronic devices to trace calls.

"This year through late November," Sicard explained, "we've seen a conviction for each arrest. That's 100 per cent.

Varni pointed out that the people who normally make typical annoyance calls are far from appearing like "leering deviates or the hard-faced criminal-type when they are eventually collared."

"From my own experienced," he related, "the obscene callers are almost without exception the meek type when they have been discovered and are confronted with the overwhelming evidence we generally have before taking any action."

"Almost everyone who's caught," said Varni, "is repentant and promises never to do it again. And I've heard of only one repeat offender since I've been in the business."

Men aren't the only abusive callers. Disgruntled women-poorly-informed enough to believe that harassment by phone is still a relatively safe form of malevolent self-expression - are also guilty of this.

A well-groomed and stylishly-attired woman in her 50s is serving her sentence now–the result of some 20 calls to a beleagured woman's home and place of employment. She was peeved over a business deal she once had with the victim.

If the call involves a serious threat of bodily harm or property damage, PT&T people give the case top priority, making certain of course that the police are notified at once.

Victims of obscene or harassment calls, or any other form of anonymous annoying calls, are questioned about the date, hour, vocal traits, background noises and details of the conversation. They are also briefed on how to keep a log of such things in the event of any future calls. This is how the victim can help establish a pattern or perhaps even come up with a suspect.

Determining the telephone line from which calls are being made is a complex process, and detection devices and techniques depend upon the type of switching equipment used and the number of telephone central offices involved.

No monitoring or listening devices are ever used, but not all methods can be publicized at risk of aiding the crank caller.

Pacific Telephone does mention freely two very effective detection tools: the "trap-and-hold" instrument installed on the victim's phone, and the "trouble-print-out"equipment.

With trap-and-hold, the victim can keep the suspect's line open by merely leaving his own phone off the receiver. The caller–even by hanging up at his end–cannot disconnect his line and cannot make any calls other than to the victim.

Trouble print-out equipment can reject punched cards showing the date, time and source of each call made to the victim. When this card is matched to a log kept by the victim, phone people can identify the phone used by the suspect.

Both methods have been admitted as evidence in the courts. Other, more sophisticated equipment is being used now, and still more is in the development stage.

All 50 states have specific laws against annoyance calls, and legislation covering calls within the District of Colombia and calls between states is pending in Congress. Penalties range up to $1,000 fine and 10 years in prison. And sentences often call for extensive psychiatric treatment at the individual's personal expense.

These laws, cooperation between the public, the phone company and law enforcement people are resulting in a sharp rise in arrests and convictions.

Pacific Telephone is hopeful that the end result will be phone service unmarred by annoyance calls. Until that day dawns, however, PT&T advises people to HANG UP under any of the following conditions:

–If the caller doesn't answer when you say hello.

–At the first obscene word or improper suggestion.

–If the caller doesn't identify himself to your satisfaction.

"If the calls continue," said Sicard, "contact our business office."

First WV class of LVN's finishes fourth in State

The twenty-five graduates of West Valley College's Licensed Vocational Nursing Training Program who last year passed the State license examination from the Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners, finished fourth in the State as a group.

Dr. Wallace W. Hall, West Valley College President, said the group finished with an average score of 582.4 points, compared to the statewide average of 549.8 points.

The group was also highest among Northern California junior colleges, and was in competition against a total of thirty-one other schools.

The thirty-nine students from Grossmont Adult School who took the examination had a 600.3 average score. Compton College was second with 18 students compiling a 583.7 average, and Fullerton Junior College's 29 entries posting a 582.9 score. All three schools are in Southern California.

This was the first graduating class in the program at West Valley College, Dr. Hall said, and for that reason the score it compiled was "particularly gratifying."

Second class in the program, comprising 27 students held its capping ceremonies at the college last week.

Local boys send thanks for scroll

West Valley College's Christmas Scroll to troops in Viet Nam, made the rounds of the bases there, according to reports filtering back to the college on a continuing basis.

Latest word came from Frederich Schultz, 20, who together with his younger brother, Peter, is stationed at the Chu Lai Marine Air Base. Fred was a student at West Valley College in the Fall of 1965. They saw the Bob Hope Show when it was in Chu Lai on Dec. 20.

Here is his description, in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manfred Schultz, 2081 Orestes Way, Campbell.

"Along with the other acts, Bob Hope came on with a poster which read 'Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year' from the students at West Valley College in Campbell, California. Peter was sitting next to me and we were both shocked. I couldn't believe it! West Valley College got a round of applause from 10,000 people. I am not only speaking for myself, but for all servicemen, how greatly we appreciated hearing from them; I am going back to West Valley College when I get back and tell them how I received their message."

An earlier, heartwarming letter was addressed to Student Body President Richard Salciccia, from the representatives of six different groups including the 196th Light Infantry Brigade, 1st Cavalry Division (Airborn), 4th Infantry Division, 1st Armored Cavalry Division, 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile), and 198th Light Infantry Brigade. Attached to the letter were the emblems of the several groups represented. The letter read as follows:

"Saw the Bob Hope Show when it was in Chu Lai, Republic of South Viet Nam on the 20th of December. We wish to extend our sincere thanks for your thoughtful Christmas Greeting. May the New Year be a prosperous and happy one for all of you."

Letters to the Editor

AIRMAN WRITES HOME

Dear Sir:

This is a letter a few of us wrote, and I thought that you might print this in your paper, so that those kids might read it. I know they probably won't but somebody just might and it will set them straight.

This letter is kind of late, but I think it will do for any time of the year.

My home is in your town and I've lived there quite a few years so please do me a favor and print this in your paper if you have room.

THANK YOU
AIC JAMES E. STAGGS
Ubon, Thailand

Dear Santa Claus,

This year for Christmas I have decided to ask for only one present. Since there is no snow in Viet Nam, if you'll just gift wrap it, I'm sure the Postal Department would take care of the delivery for you.

Santa, can you imagine the joy on my face when I open your gift and find the one thing I want most of all in the world–An Anti-Viet Nam Demonstrator.

At least I'd have someone, all mine, to share all my experiences with. I promise to take "special" care of him. I'll give him a haircut. They seem to need one, but I can't promise to keep him clean because baths are pretty scarce over here. Besides, dirt seems to be a prerequisite for protestors, so there he should feel right at home.

I'll share my bed with him and my sometimes inedible food with him. I'll share the disease, the intense heat, and the impossible steaming jungle. I'll share with him the heartbreaks of seeing my buddies blown apart or trying to identify their mutilated and tortured bodies the Viet Cong leave behind.

I'll let him sit beside me for hours waist deep in mud and water filled fox holes, and Santa, I'll try not to be tempted to sit on the shallow side myself; I'll share my long nights on patrol in the bone chilling rain, but don't worry Santa, I'll be ever with the joy of giving, giving a little "hell" to this Christmas present you thoughtfully sent to me.

I promise, Santa to always give him his own way for as long as he lives. Of course that won't be very long if he insists on saying the things he said in the states. If he still feels the same way after a few days, well a promise is a promise! The next time our patrols are under attack by the Cong, I'll promise to let him run to the front lines and tell the Cong he loves them and wants to help them.

Santa, for New Years' Day this year I've decided to ask for a present also, and then there's Washington's Birthday and my birthday and Valentines' Day and Easter, and Santa don't forget the most important day of all, the Fourth of July. Maybe you could find time to send all of my buddies over here a real live demonstrator of their own?

PROTESTS ADULT PROGRAM

Dear Editor:

Re: Article appearing in San Jose Mercury, Jan. 5, 1968. Accreditation of only 3 years to our new Metropolitan Adult Education Program.

What a strange society we live in! Spend thousands beginning new programs to encourage the education of our minority. Additional thousands for research on new teaching methods and motivation.

Yet, here in Campbell, where the classes were smaller, closer to pupil's homes and where the Adult Education Program was good enough to have earned a five-year accreditation, our people are being short-changed waiting for the "bugs" to be ironed out, due to the unification with San Jose, Santa Clara and East Side Union High School Districts.

MAEP does not have any class scheduled for Campbell Area to teach ESL, English for non-English speaking persons.

Campbell District is to be commended for their one class, taught at Campbell Congregational Church. This class has a teacher, two volunteer aides and free baby sitters. This is education with a heart.

It is to be hoped that the big daddy, Metropolitan Adult Ed. Program, will show its concern for the hard-working, tax-paying citizens by programming more imaginatively for this district. Especially for those having to attend night classes. It might start by having ESL schedule printed bilingually.

cal question, I thought this might be a good opportunity to inject it.

-o-

THE ADMINISTRATION of justice is the responsibility of all; assuming that a brief and somewhat reasonable definition of justice is "that process by which each person receives what is due him", I have not been able to reconcile my convictions with those defense attorneys who, knowing that a person is guilty of a crime, can look for those loop holes in law, can prey upon the frailities of the human errors by Law Enforcement, to set free persons who have committed crimes. Be assured I'm not speaking of those instances where Law Enforcement has violated the rights of individuals or have conducted illegal searches, but the concept of the adversary system which pits the attorney against, for example, Law Enforcement. Should not the role of the attorney be somewhat geared to the end result that the concern of all should be the administration of justice.

I sometimes feel they hide behind the Canons of Professional Ethics and forget that even above that oath is their responsibility to all men, to the protection of the community and the welfare of all people.

My concept of Law Enforcement is not only to find and attempt to prove a person guilty of crimes, but an equal responsibility, and perhaps greater responsibility to prove those suspected innocent. And yet, as I understand it, an attorney is restricted legally, not to reveal information that would be prejudicial to his client, even if he admits guilt.

PERHAPS THERE SHOULD be a re-evaluation of the role of attorneys in our system of justice, just as there is a continual evaluation of Law Enforcement. To protect the rights of a client, to see that he is ably represented and that he received the right of due process is important and vital, but can there be more of a joint purpose between the segment in our system of justice that will continue to protect the innocent and yet better assure that the guilty indeed receive what is due them.

Before the phone calls start coming, let me close by indicating we all realize that our system of justice is not perfect, but it is by far, the best conceived by man and all I'm really pointing out is that we must continue to try to improve it.

Thanks George, and get well soon.

commence their exercise by "jogging" around the track. Those who feel able--and competitive--then run from one lap to four "timed". The object, of course, is to beat your own time. In addition, all the members of the group also run "alone" during the week. This may be a morning jog around the block, or an evening "jog" around their backyard.

Before coming out to join the group, Edholm recommends that every one over forty, overweight, or unused to exercise, first have a physical examination.

Interested? Edholm's number is 378-6252.

The boys, members of Troop 377 of Hazelwood School, earned their merit badges in hiking. They hiked from Big Basin Way in Saratoga to their homes by way of Stevens Creek Dam. Mrs. Spehar of 777 Jeffrey Ave. reports they made good time, starting at 11:30 a.m. and returning by 6:50 p.m.

Mrs. Spehar who accompanied the boys, is the only mother on record making the hike.

HURRICANES

In the past five years, tornadoes, hurricanes and floods took nearly 1000 lives in the continental United States.

What's your sport?

BOWLERS: Lend us your scores!
GOLFERS: A Birdie, really?
SKIIERS: Who borke his leg?
FISHERMEN: How long?
BOATERS: Where did you run
BOATERS: Where did you run out of gas?
SURFERS: What was the temperature?
CAMPERS: Why did you get poison oak?

We're trying to tell you something, Press Reader. About ourselves and YOU. We want to start "reporting" about local people involved in a variety of sports. We want organized sports-basketball, track, etc. We want school sports–high school, college, etc. We want individual activites–we want to know if the skiing was good, if the fish were biting, and who the guys are you bowl with.

If you've some regular activities to report, we'll be glad to set-up a "format" with you. We'll also enjoy knowing if your neighbor bagged the limit, or if his six year old daughter can single-ski.

Write, call or come into the Press (378-9136) and talk about it. Ask for the Sports Editor. We're here from 9 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

ULCERS

ARE YOU ALWAYS RUSHED? Worried? Under a lot of pressure? Then you're a likely candidate for stomach ulcer. To help avoid them, get sufficient sleep . . . eat slowly and select food judiciously. If you have problems, talk them over with someone instead of bottling them up inside. Above all, be good to yourself. Learn to relax . . . and be sure to take an annual vacation.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

The second session of the Ninetieth Congress which opened earlier this week started with a king-size headache and a hangover from the long 1967 session. Vietnam and money continue as painful congressional worries.

In an article in NATION'S BUSINESS for December, Majority Leader Carl Albert (D-Okla.) predicted, "It's going to be a session of strong crosscurrents...a tough year." Republican Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford, (R-Mich.) saw a continuing struggle over spending, "eyeball to eyeball".

The fact that this is an election year when a President, 435 Members of the House, and 34 Senators will be chosen doesn't hold out much hope for congressional sweetness and light in the months ahead. Some are predicting that President Johnson will emulate President Truman who lambasted the "do-nothing 80th Congress" to a surprise victory in the 1948 Presidential race. Others, like Representative Ford, say, "I don't think he can get away with....blaming Congress. After all this is a Democratic Congress."

High on the list of issues Congress will face this year are what to do about our cities and the riots which occurred last summer and are expected again in 1968. President Johnson will push with determination for an even more expensive War on Poverty. To pay for it and other Great Society programs he will undoubtedly renew his plea for a 10% tax surcharge which the House dumped unceremoniously last year.

Extentsive investigations of automobile insurance company practices are sure to occupy headlines. A rising sentiment for protectionist legislation to help U.S. industries in trouble from foreign competition will certainly erupt again in 1968. U.S. negotiators who have given more than they have received in international trade negotiations will definitely be on the pan.

Gun control legislation, election reforms, the Arizona-Colorado River Project, and the controversial Redwood Park Bill will be the subject of heated debate.

Civil Rights legislation will probably stay on the legislative back burner thanks to racial rioting and violence. The Foreign Aid Bill will have another narrow squeek with even deeper cuts than last year. Space, which has lost some of its glamor, will be continued but at a reduced rate. Research grants financed by the government will be carefully scrutinized but I don't think severely or unreasonably cut. A Congressional Code of Ethics must be adopted unless the 99% of honest lawmakers are to stand convicted by the indiscretions of Senator Dodd and and Adam Clayton Powell.

All in all, the issues will be somewhat the same as last year and if a blanket statement covering those issues is possible, it would be, "Can we have guns and butter, too?" The economy drive that exploded at the end of last year after the President's request for a tax increase will probably provide the best barometer of what will happen to the issue in this session. If the economy need continues and no tax increase is enacted, you can look for less butter and substantial cutbacks in government spending.

NOSEBLEEDS

HOW DO YOU STOP nosebleed? First, have the victim sit up. Then apply cold, wet towels over the face, nose, back of the head and neck. Keep the patient quiet. If bleeding is severe or prolonged, call a physician. If nosebleeds occur at frequent intervals, they may be symptoms of serious illness and therefore require professional investigation.

PREPARE FOR GRAND OPENING--Tom Sparks, manager of Shaw's of San Francisco candy and ice cream store in Riverside Plaza on W. Hamilton Ave., Campbell practices for the grand opening of the unit this coming Saturday and Sunday. He's stacking up a five-deck cone and his wife, Carol, doesn't think he's going to make it.

Head Start school needs drivers

One of Campbell's most successful community action projects, the Full Year Head Start pre-school, needs more volunteer drivers to bring children to and from school, according to Mrs. Nancy Hartsell, of the West Valley Economic Opportunity Commission.

Operating every weekday morning from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., in St. Lawrence Episcopal Church, 65 West Rincon Ave., the Head Start center provides valuable pre-school experiences for 16 children of low income Campbell area families, as well as group discussion, leadership training, and self-help projects for their families.

The children are learning at Head Start to cope with the group experiences, the tools of learning, and the rules of cooperation which are a barrier to success in school for many low income children. Educational toys and learning experiences often absent in low income homes are available to them, and a team of friendly teachers and volunteers give them the individual attention which they sorely need.

Sponsored by St. Lawrence church and the San Jose Branch of the American Association of University Women, and funded by the Economic Opportunity Commission, a part of the War on Poverty, Campbell Head Start is the only full year Head Start in the West Valley.

Volunteers from both sponsoring groups and other concerned citizens of the area work in the classroom with the Head Start teacher, Mrs. Allan Panitch, and her aide, Carlos Rodriguez, and others work with the Head Start parents in self-help and group activities designed to make the program helpful to the whole family.

Parents work in the classroom and on the advisory committee, providing an important influence on the whole educational program.

The team of volunteer drivers, headed by Mrs. Gail Dalzell, divide the driving responsibilities so that each volunteer can best fit her driving schedule to her own needs. Each delivery or pick-up route takes only about a half hour. It is important of course, that drivers be dependable, though substitutes are available in emergencies. If you would like to volunteer to drive for Head Start, and help meet a real need in your community, please call Mrs. Dalzell at 378-2746.

CAMPBELL'S HEAD START SCHOOL--Mrs. Allan Panitch, teacher, reads to an interested group of Head Start preschoolers at Campbell's full year Head Start School conducted at St. Lawrnece Episcopal Church, 65 W. Rincon Ave.

Planners have light agenda

The application of the First Church of Christ Scientist for approval of an off-site directional sign at Dot and Campbell Avenues, for the church located at 395 West Rincon Ave. was denied by the Planning Commission at their meeting Monday night. The church already has one directional sign at Winchester and Rincon Ave. The policy of the Public Works department has been to allow only one sign in the public right-of-way within the City limits.

Calvin D. Falcon was given approval for a warehouse office building to be constructed on property located at 81 Lost Lake Lane near Dell Ave. Fred Sahadi, proprietor of The Cardiff Affair, 215 Union Ave. was granted approval to add a second story addition to an existing recreation building.

West Valley College was also given the okay to install five overhead light standards at their parking lot at Rincon and Campbell Avenue.

701 program to be discussed

A modified mall on Campbell Ave., access to Highway 17 and other plans for the revitalization of Campbell will be studied tonight (Jan. 17) at a joint meeting of all interested citizens, merchants, C of C members, Councils and Boards at the City Hall Chambers at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will concern itself with city-wide planning recommendations in the "701 Program." Robert Stephens, City Manager, urges a good turn out for the first meeting of this type for 1968.

Camden Capers

By Gayle Piech

After much discussion and investigation, Camden seniors voted to hold this year's senior ball after-party at Saratoga Lanes. The decision was made at a senior meeting led by president Lou Gasper.

Pros and cons of Saratoga Lanes and a San Francisco bay cruise, the two suggested settings, were discussed at the meeting. Saratoga Lanes proved to offer more, including bowling, a place to dance to live music, pool tables, cokes, and a breakfast.

Results of the three-day educational program on drug abuse give assurance that 94% of Camden's students reject all connection with Speed, LSD and marijuana. The program was held Nov. 14-16, and involved ninth, eleventh and twelfth graders.

A total of 1,075 questionaires were returned by students at the conclusion of the program.

ELECTIONS

As the first semester comes to an end, petitions for class offices and student body offices begin to circulate.

Class assemblies were held today. Freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors gathered separately to listen to campaign speeches. Student body speeches and elections will be Friday Jan. 19.

BASKETBALL

Camden's varsity basketball squad evened their league record to 2-2, when they lost 65-60 to the Branham Bruins Jan. 12 in the Bruins gym.

Camden lost their first league game of the season 49-41 against Del Mar on Jan. 5.

The Cougars led only in the first quarter with 15-7. Later in the fourth quarter they trailed by only one point but that wasn't enough as Del Mar penetrated the Cougar's strategy.

Determined to raise their standings, the Cougars beat Westmont 64-55 in the losers gym.

Camden with a 31-15 halftime lead, almost pressed their luck when the Westmont Warriors came on strong with three point plays.

January 9, Camden extended their first win by beating Los Gatos 69-42.

Camden's aggressive defense and sharp shooting offense prevented Los Gatos from coming closer than 10 points throughout the entire game.

Campbell Corners

by Pat Hebard

The Campbell Varsity wrestling team rallied last Thursday to beat the Del Mar Dons 23-22. With fantastic student support Campbell grasped the victory. The victors were Tim Baker, Bruno Biccoca, Tom Jeffries, Ralph Jordan, Mike Moore, Les Smith and Mike Walker.
